My signature below indicates I have read and understand:

- Students who continue to enroll in upper-level course work during high school are more prepared for college and careers than those who do not. Students are encouraged to remain enrolled in upper-level courses even if credits earned for courses taken during middle school are applied towards graduation requirements.
- Courses and grades will be reflected on and factored into the student's Official Washington State High School Grade Point Average (GPA). This GPA will be reported to colleges and other outside sources requesting an Official GPA.
- Once a course is added to a Washington State Official High School Transcript, it may not be removed.
